

Lawyer For The Defense

By CARL G. HODGES

This story goes back to May 1858, a few months before Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas staged their historic series of debates in the Illinois senatorial campaign. Riding the circuit of courts in Illinois counties, Lincoln had risen as lawyer to a position where he earned substantial fees in cases involving the International Harvester Co. and Illinois Central R. R. But when the son of an old friend got into trouble, Lincoln dropped everything else to go to Beardstown to assist in the boy's defense without fee.

CHAPTER I

"Mr. Lincoln! Mr. Lincoln!" The tousle-haired, button-nosed lad of seventeen ran puffing down Beardstown's hot and dusty street. He was shouting after the tall and gangling man in the faded linen and the tall top hat. Lincoln, gaunt of face and sad of eye, paused at the corner to let a wagon rattle past and the boy caught up with him. He grasped the tail of the rumbled frock coat. "Mr. Lincoln!"

Abe Lincoln turned. The gaunt face lighted and his melancholy eyes warmed. He put out a big and bony hand and rubbed the boy's head. "Inter Armstrong!" He nodded his head, then, and his smile faded as if a memory plagued him. "You're the image of Hannah now."

The boy said, "Mama Armstrong said to find you the minute you got to Beardstown. She's got to see you. Bad." His tenseness, his burden, fell away as he looked up into the tall man's face.

"Follow me, Mr. Lincoln." The boy led the way around the corner of State Street, away from the public square and the red brick circuit courthouse, where the crowd was already milling. They walked a meager distance, entered the yard of a little cottage with gay flowers sprouting from a bed planted along the walk. There was a watermark on the weatherboards a foot off the ground. The Illinois overflowed its banks almost every spring and 1858 had been no exception.

Woman In Black
On the little porch a woman in a prim black dress was rocking, fanning herself. When she saw Lincoln she uttered a glad cry and dropped her fan. "Abe!"

She did not smile. Her eyes were worried and her mouth corners were turned down.

Lincoln took off his hat but still his head almost touched the ceiling of the porch. Six-foot-four, he towered over her and his big left hand covered both of hers.

There was a quaver in her voice and she clung to him. "Abe."

"Now, now, Hannah! You promised you wouldn't worry. Duff will be all right."

She stared at him in disappointment, as friends sometimes do because they are such friends. "Abe, the change of venue from Cass County was supposed to remove him from all that hatred and give him a fair trial."

Will Be Treated Fairly
"Duff will be treated fairly, Hannah. Depend on it."

"Like Jim Norris was treated at Havana? They hated the boys in Mason County. All on account of that fire and brimstone Peter Cartwright."

"Cartwright had nothing to do with Duff's trouble, Hannah. You know that. Just because Cartwright's camp meeting brought a crowd to Virgin Grove and that crowd included Jim Metzker and Jim Norris and your son is no reason to blame the preacher."

"You said fair trial, Abe. And then the sheriff irons Norris and my Duff together like animals and brings them down river to Beardstown. Norris goes on to Alton and eight years in the pen. Duff pines away here in the jail. Judge . . ."

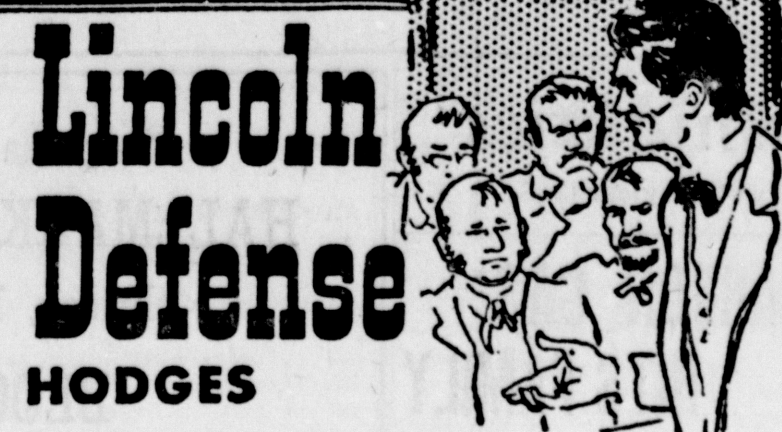

"Judge Harriott is an honest man. He could do no less than he did on the evidence presented against Jim Norris. Norris had killed a man before."

"It was self-defense. Mr. Walker proved that."

"The jury didn't believe it, Hannah. And that's why I moved for the change of venue; so that Duff would be tried alone and not suffer for what the Mason County folks might feel about Norris."

Hannah touched her button nose with the point of a lace handkerchief she took from the sleeve of her black dress. "Judge Harriott a fair man? Hmmp! No, he would not admit Duff to bail. All this time — since last November — Duff's been suffering in jail. He won't get a fair trial. I know it."

Lincoln's gaunt face relaxed. His mouth corners lifted and the mole at his cheek bone became more prominent. "Duff's had free board all winter, Hannah. And a free education. At the cost of a pair of spectacles and some books for the schoolteacher who was in jail for larceny, your son has learned his letters."

Hannah shook her head. "He's jail-pale as a boy with the milk-sick. The people here are talking against him. They will not see he gets a fair trial."

"I will see to it, Hannah. Now don't worry, I am going to the court house I must talk to Mr. Shaw. To the sheriff. To Mr. Fullerton."

"Fullerton?" She stared at her long-time friend. "He's the state's attorney for the circuit. He's the one who prosecuted Jim Norris at Havana. He's the one that will argue against my boy. He'll do his best to have Duff hung!"

"He is a good lawyer, an honest man. A friend of mine. Perhaps we can select a common ground of discussion. Perhaps . . ."

Porter Armstrong came running down the walk from the fence that edged the street. He reported to

The will of Mrs. Alice Dougherty, widow of Dorsey Dougherty, disposing of an estate estimated to be worth $148,000 in real estate and personal property, was placed on record at the courthouse here Saturday.

Mrs. Dougherty, who died at the Snyder Nursing Home, Lincolnway West, on February 4, divided the estate among members of her family and that of her husband with sums to former employees of her husband in the Dougherty and Hartley store on Lincoln Square.

The will directs that the apartment building on the southwest corner of Lincoln Square, with the Dougherty and Hartley store on its ground floor, be sold at public or private sale. Its value is estimated at $75,000 for preliminary inheritance tax purposes.

$50,000 In Personal Property

This Morning Was Coldest

While unofficial reports of temperatures as low as zero were received from various rural sections of the county, the official thermometers at the Gettysburg Times Weather Station atop The Times building showed a low of eight degrees above zero this morning to make it the coldest morning of the winter.

Sunday's official low was nine degrees above zero, a record that stood for a day. The previous low reading for the winter came last month at 11.

The Arendtsville laboratory station reported a low of seven above Sunday and six above this morning.

This morning's record here made it the coldest February 10 since 1951 when another 8-degree reading was taken.

This cold snap is the most severe since mid-January of last year when temperatures dropped dropped as low as seven below zero in Gettysburg.

His mother looked stricken. "That means he's found him! He'll bring him back. And that Charley Allen will tell the same lies he told at Havana and Fullerton will hang my boy!"

Lincoln said, "Found Allen? Why should the sheriff have to find him? Allen is the principal witness for the state."

The boy looked at his mother. (Continued On Page 8)

G. A. CARBAUGH, CASHTOWN, DIES VERY SUDDENLY

George A. Carbaugh, 81, Cashtown, died near his home Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, attributed the death to a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Carbaugh, who resided with a brother, Arbin Carbaugh, on High St. in Cashtown, had suffered from a heart condition for some time, but appeared in good health Saturday and after eating his noon meal had gone to Bream's store in Cashtown to purchase some tobacco and other articles.

He was enroute home from the store when he collapsed while walking past the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hossler, about two doors from the home of his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Hossler assisted him into their home but death occurred before a physician could be summoned.

A native of Franklin Twp., he was a son of the late J. Franklin and Anne M. (Orner) Carbaugh. Services On Tuesday

WM. B. WILSON NAMED HEAD OF FRUIT GROWERS

William B. Wilson, Biglerville R. D., was elected president of the Fruit Growers Association of Adams County at its annual meeting Saturday at the Knouse Food Cooperative, Peach Glen.

Wilson, vice president last year, succeeds Ralph D. Tyson. Other officers elected include: Arthur Rice Jr., vice president, and Guy Beamer, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Wayne Lee, Pennsylvania State University, in charge of apple bruising research being carried on at the fruit processing centers in the county under the direction of the association for the last two years, said the study has shown "that in the four-state area this year the loss caused by bruising was $460,000."

That estimate was based upon the average cost of labor and the average price of apples, he said.

Has No Solution

He added, "I wish we could give you some answer that would permit you to stop bruising immediately. But there are no clear answers. To a large extent the question is one of attitude on the part of the grower and picker. Some growers turn in apples relatively free from bruises, others turn in apples with many bruises. Yet most use the same type of picking bags, and apparently employ just about the same methods of harvesting the fruit. The only answer seems to lie in education to make the grower and picker realize they are handling a fragile product."

He urged "some method of financially rewarding those growers who bring in apples with the fewest bruises. But it is difficult to determine how to set up grades so that it works properly."

Think Delicious Fragile
One fact brought to light by the study of bruising: "We all think of Golden Delicious as delicate. But we found the smallest amount of bruising on golden delicious out of the three varieties studied, Golden Delicious, York and Stayman. If we set the amount of bruising on Golden Delicious at 100, York had 145 and Stayman 156. Perhaps the answer lies in the fact that everyone thinks of the Delicious as fragile and handles it more gently."

Discussing marketing, Dr. Lee said: "Price is a consideration, but not the only one. If we worried only about price we could all eat for ten per cent what it costs us now by eating some of these soy bean and alfalfa concoctions which nutritionists tell us contain everything we need for a balanced diet. But most of us don't, so there must be other factors. We as a nation have reached a high standard of living where we can afford to be choosy about which foods we buy and so we have greater competition for products."

"Choosy About Food"
"It is odd, but we have reached something new in the world. Through all generations man was (Continued On Page 2)

KNOUSE TALKS ON HIS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

M. E. Knouse, president of the Knouse Foods Cooperative, Saturday observed an anniversary at the annual meeting of the Fruit Growers Association of Adams County, held in the Knouse Foods cafeteria at Peach Glen.

Called upon to give "an inspirational talk," Mr. Knouse told the growers the day marked the 50th anniversary of his start in business. "The first 16 1/2 years were in the retail business, the remainder in fruit processing, and on the side 3 years of farming and fruit growing."

During his 50 years in business "we had many depressions and recessions such as we have now. One of the interesting things was that we always came out all right and moved to a higher level than before. If you look back at industry over the last 200 years you will find a long record of ups and downs, but each time, after each depression, industry rose to higher levels."

Many Are Affected
"Today I think the thing wrong with our economy is that too many people are trying to make us think we are in a depression. Some are acting that way by retrenching their operations."

"Today you may think that the fruit growers are the only ones suffering. But the marketing people the processors, are suffering as much as you. And agriculture is not the only industry which is hurt."

"One thing about agriculture, when these dips occur in our economy, agriculture usually suffers first, and quite often it is (Continued On Page 3)

Man's Chances In Outer Space Will Be Tested By Airman In Steel Cabinet

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Man's chances to conquer outer space were on trial today by a blond airman in a narrow steel cabinet at Randolph Air Force Base.

Airman Donald G. Farrell, 23, a six-footer from the Bronx, squeezed into a 3-by-5-foot experimental space cabinet yesterday morning at the School of Space Medicine for one of the most fantastic voyages in history.

For seven days he will pretend — both physically and psychologically — that he is aboard a space rocket headed for the moon.

Next Saturday morning — if everything goes well — he will climb from the instrument-jammed space barrel a weary but unharmed veteran of the mysteries of space travel.

As he climbed into the space cabin, Farrell commented calmly, "Well, here goes."

FAMILY OF 12 IS HOMELESS AFTER SUNDAY NOON BLAZE

A family of 12 was made homeless by a fire near Bonneauville Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The blaze caused approximately $7,000 damage to the home and Francis L. Miller, Gettysburg R. 5, firemen estimated.

The Red Cross is receiving contributions of clothing, furniture and cash for the Miller family.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, and their ten children had returned home after attending Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Bonneauville, Sunday morning. At that time they had found nothing amiss.

After the noon meal they had gone to the living room where they were watching television.

Discover 2nd Floor Ablaze
About 1 o'clock Mr. Miller noticed smoke and his wife, Rosalie, saw smoke curling out of some cracks in the ceiling plaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller sought to reach the second floor of the house to determine the cause of the smoke, and the "second floor was all black with smoke rolling at us and we couldn't get upstairs Mrs. Miller said.

The ten children, including the sleeping seven-month-old baby, were rushed from the house by the parents with only the clothing they were wearing because all of the other clothing was in the blazing upstairs.

The Millers phoned for firemen from the kitchen of the house, which at that time was untouched by the blaze. Then they rushed the children by car to the home of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franz C. Martin, Gettysburg R. 5, about a mile from the burning home, in order to get the children out of the cold.

BEGIN TRIAL OF 3 MEN TODAY ON LIQUOR CHARGES

State Liquor Control Board agents told of finding 800 gallons of moonshine whiskey and upwards of 10,000 gallons of liquid in "mash boxes" waiting conversion to whiskey, in Adams County court this morning.

They were testifying in the trial of William Marshall Williams and Coy Rex Shaw, both of North Wilkesboro, N. C., and James E. Tawney, Gettysburg R. 3, all on seven counts of liquor law violations.

The trial was the first for the February term of court. Gettysburg High School students were present for part of the hearing as part of the annual program of the bar association to provide high school students with an opportunity to see the court and county offices in operation.

L. V. Bomgardner, prosecutor in the case, told of going to a farm owned by Lawrence Crouse in Strabann Twp. about 4 o'clock on the morning of election day, November 5, 1957.

Find Still, Moonshine
He and other agents, Bomgardner said, went first to the barn and located a 500-gallon still and 776 gallons of moonshine whiskey packed four one-gallon jars to the box in cardboard cartons.

A truck, which counsel agreed was owned by James Tawney, Gettysburg R. 3, was found at the farm south of Shriver's Corner-Hunters-town Rd. and about a mile east of the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd.

Bomgardner said 7,000 pounds of sugar was on the truck.

After searching through the barn, the agents went to the house nearby, flashed a searchlight into a room and found two men asleep. They knocked on the door and one of the men came to the door.

The liquor agent said only two rooms in the house were apparently occupied, the kitchen and the room in which the men were sleeping.

Identifies Two Men
He identified the two men sleeping in the room as Williams and Shaw. Each had wallets containing $1. There were pictures, but no (Continued On Page 2) glad for what he could get. There never was quite enough food to go around. Now, in this country, we have reached the point where we can afford to be choosy about our foods. That means that apples, if they are to compete, must be properly packaged, placed and merchandised to sell in competition with other foods.

Mrs. Thomas Pyie, director of public relations for Knouse Foods, who has been serving in the same capacity for the fruit growers, told of the increasing interest of the public in the apple blossom festival and the fruit harvest. "As people become more and more cooped up in the cities, they become more and more interested in things of nature. They want to see the birth of spring and the fulfillment of harvest. We have invited them to come visit with us, and they have in ever increasing numbers. So we must keep printing brochures and help and greet them. We are selfish too, for if they come to see us we believe they will think about apples, thus help us." She told of a number of planned TV appearances and of stories in the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and elsewhere which will promote the area.

The Numismatic Society will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the historical room in the court house.

identification in one wallet. The other had a social security card for Shew.

Bomgardner said: "They didn't care to talk. Williams said 'You've got us, that's enough.' Shew did not talk at all."

The liquor agent said that 24 one-gallon jugs of white moonshine was found in the room where the men slept. The jugs were packed, four to a box, in cardboard cartons.

Among articles found in the room, Bomgardner said, was a pair of blue overall pants with the word "Tawney" on it written in ink or marking pencil and with a number of laundry marks spelling the name "Tawney."

Had Deep Well Pump
Bomgardner said wiring and piping to the barn was underground, and that in addition to the still in the barn, which was not operating, there was a deep well pump, with serial number 95354, the jugged and boxed liquor, condenser, boiler, etc., and 29 mash boxes filled with rye and water. The 29 "mash boxes" contained about 10,000 gallons of liquid. Bomgardner said it appeared to him that the mash boxes had not "been sugared in" and that it would take about 100 pounds of sugar per box to properly prepare the material for the still.

Underground piping led from the still to a ditch in a field and there were evidences of some still waste having been run out into the ditch.

In the glove compartment of the truck a bill of sale to "cash" for rye secured from Richard and Arthur Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4, was found.

Moonshine Is Destroyed

Bomgardner said the still was dismantled, the deep well pump was removed and, with the oil burner and sugar, was placed in custody of the sheriff. State agents took the truck into custody. All of the moonshine, with the exception of a one-gallon jug which was retained as a sample, was destroyed on the premises.

Bomgardner said Tawney, arrested in January at his trailer on Gettysburg R. 3, told him that he had "lent the truck to a couple of fellows." Bomgardner showed a bill for a deep well pump which he said he found on a shelf in Tawney's trailer among other bills and added that "Mr. Tawney said he did not know how the bill got there."

Andrew C. Andrews, Harrisburg, assistant chemist for the state Liquor Control Board, said he had examined the liquid in the jug and found it to be 95.25 proof alcohol and "the alcohol was ethyl, or drinking type, rather than wood alcohol." He added "the liquid had the odor and flavor of moonshine."

Illegal Beverage
He declared that it is illegal in Pennsylvania to sell any liquid with more than one-half of one per cent alcohol in it without a license and that the 95.25 proof of the liquor meant it was 47.63 per cent alcohol.

Attorneys Eugene R. Hartman, Gettysburg, and Robert O. Fry, York, are representing the defendants.

The jury hearing the case includes: Benjamin Baldwin, Biglerville R. D.; John Breighner, York Springs; Paul L. Cooley, Arendtsville; Wilmer Drach, 257 E. Dr. Taylor Talks
Dr. Carlton Taylor, of the Pennsylvania State University, told of changes in the fungicide schedule for the coming year. He also said, "There are far greater variations to be found from the methods used in placing the sprays than in the differences that will be given by different sprays. Far too many are operating good machines too fast. Just because a sprayer might be called a speed sprayer does not mean it can be driven down the row at a rapid pace. These machines are geared to a two to two and half mile an hour speed down the row. If you go faster you just can't get the sprays on the trees properly."

John Pepper, of the Pennsylvania State University, told the group, "Santa Fe and Forbes Scale are increasing considerably. An oil in the delayed dormant would do the best job of getting rid of scale. Leaf minor has also increased, and there were very few orchards in Adams County last year where there was not some. Codling moth has stepped up considerably in the county."

DRIVER KILLED CRASHING HOME

Ernest Lee Farr, 53, York, Alabama, truck driver, was fatally injured this morning at 4:45 o'clock when his tractor trailer crashed into the stone home of Raymond Shuff of Catotown Furnace, Md.

Maryland state police said Farr, driving a tractor trailer owned by the Adams and Co. Transportation Co., Lakeland, Fla., and loaded with frozen orange juice, apparently fell asleep while driving north on the Gettysburg-Frederick Rd.

The vehicle left the east side of the highway, and crashed into the side of the Shuff home, ripping a gaping hole in the side of the house and throwing the structure out of alignment.

The Shuff family was awakened by the crash but was not injured. The house, according to the family, will have to be torn down.

Harry Miller, of the Thurmont Fire Co. which responded with three pieces of equipment, said the truck driver was conscious and complained to the firemen about being cold as they tried to pull the heavy vehicle from the stone house in order to release the driver who was pinned in the cab of the truck.

Removed to the Frederick Hospital in the Thurmont ambulance, the truck driver was pronounced dead at 5:15 o'clock of a ruptured liver and chest injuries.

CARBON GAS HITS FAMILY

Carl Wentz, 21, of 24 Newark St., Littlestown, was reported "doing well" at the Warner Hospital this morning after he had been admitted there as a patient suffering from what was believed to be a carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mr. Wentz, his wife, and their 2½-year-old son, Jay, all were affected by the carbon monoxide, Dr. Leonard Potter said, although Mr. Wentz was the most seriously ill.

Mrs. Wentz awoke this morning about 8 o'clock, suffering from nausea, and found her husband unconscious. Dr. Potter was called, arriving at the home about 8:15 o'clock, and ordered Mr. Wentz removed by Littlestown ambulance to the hospital here.

Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. employees, called to the house, found the chimney blocked. It was assumed that carbon monoxide, unable to escape via the chimney from the furnace, seeped through the house and caused the family to become ill.

FIRST PLAY AT COLLEGE THIS EVENING AT 7:30

A feature of the annual Religious Emphasis Week at Gettysburg College which opened Sunday will be presentation of two plays by students and faculty. The observance ends Wednesday.

The first play, T. S. Eliot's three-act "Murder in the Cathedral," will be presented this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Christ Chapel. A verse drama, W. H. Auden's "For The Time Being," will be presented with a student-faculty cast on Tuesday evening.

In "Murder in the Cathedral," Eliot has chosen as a subject the martyrdom of the 12th Century English archbishop, Thomas Becket. The historical Becket, a former friend of King Henry II and a former chancellor, was appointed archbishop in 1162 and gloried in opposing, almost single handedly, a powerful combination of king, baron and bishops. He refused to comply with a decision of the Council of Barons and Prelates concerning the accusation of clerics in lay courts and, after seven years of virtual exile on the continent, returned to Canterbury, where he was murdered before the cathedral altar by followers of the king apparently acting without Henry's knowledge.

Robert M. Howell, Jr., Elmont, N. Y., plays the part of Becket. The three priests are portrayed by James Church, Roselle, N. J.; Sieve Bishop, Gettysburg, and David G. Shelly, Doylestown, Pa. Brunner, Morrisville, is the herald. David Mattson, Hampstead, N. Y.; John Hattery, Baltimore; Robert Menges, Menges Mills, and Guy Edmiston Jr., Elizabethtown, appear as tempters. John Hanzl, Cranford, N. J.; Norman Kear, Forest Hills, N. Y.; Phil Gleason, New Britain, Pa., and Bruce Aslaksen, Cliffside Park, N. J., appear as knights.

Members of the chorus, women of Canterbury, include Janice Petrillo, Maywood, N. J.; Phyllis Ball, Drexel Hill, Barbara Hrbek, Roanoke, La.; Linda Perissi, Valley Stream, N. Y.; Carol Dingfelder, Riegelsville, N. J.; Barbara Bogue, Union, N. J.; Carola Matchetki, Gettysburg, and Elmarie Hutchinson, Sacramento, Calif.

One request has already been received from St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Hanover, for the play to be presented there following Religious Emphasis Week.

Faculty-Student Cast
The faculty-student cast for the other play, Auden's "For The Time Being," includes solo voices of Dr. Richard Geyer, narrator; James Pickering, Herod, both of the faculty; Edna Grommisch, Oneonta, N. Y., as Mary and Janet Varner, Johnstown, Pa., as Rachel.

Members of the chorus are Dr. Harold Dunkelberger, Louis Hamann of the faculty; Donald Halley, Camden, N. J.; Kevin Thomas, Los Angeles, and Donald Haas, Baltimore.

The setting for this play is Jerusalem at the time of Christ's birth. A commentary prepared by Dr. Ralph D. Lindeman will be presented as an introduction to the drama. This faculty-student cast is unique to college drama on the campus. J. L. Jackson, speech instructor of the college, is producer and director for both plays. The public is invited to attend these plays. There is no admission charge.

FAMILY OF 12

about halfway between Bonneauville and the Lincoln Highway on the Bonneauville-Huntertown Rd., "flames were flying along the outside of the house."

The fire burned away the southwest corner of the frame and composition siding, home, and gutted the upstairs of the house, burning down through the floors toward the first floor. A metal bed fell through to the first floor while flooring of the second floor burned. The slate roof remained practically intact.

Blame Overheated Chimney
Kitchen equipment and a freezer on an enclosed porch appeared unharmed, but the remainder of destroyed by fire or water and smoke.

Firemen said they believed the fire may have started from an overheated chimney. Mrs. Miller said the family believed, the fire may have been smoldering between the ceiling of the first floor and the flooring of the second floor for some time.

Mr. Miller, a farmer by day, is employed at the Littlestown Hardware and Foundry Co. at night.

To Rebuild Home
The family remained overnight at the Martin home, and will remain there temporarily until they can rent a home. They hope to rebuild their burned house. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Bonneauville and Gettysburg firemen immediately asked donations of clothing and other articles for the family. Some clothing was collected Sunday night with the hope that those children who attend St. Joseph Catholic School, Bonneauville, might have sufficient to go back to school.

The children are Margaret, 13; Mary, 5; Francis Jr., 11; Joseph, 10; Robert, 9; Thomas, 8; Fred, 7; Wayne, 4; George, 3; and Stephen, 7 months. All were said by Rodney Noel, Bonneauville Fire Chief, to be "average in size."

Mrs. Miller wears a size 20 dress. Mr. Miller wears 31 by 34 trousers.

Persons wishing to donate may call the Gettysburg fire house, or in Bonneauville, the Cities Service station.

for the guests, many of whom had come from great distances, was held in the parlors of Bradley Hall. At 2 p.m. dinner was served the guests in the Bradley Hall dining rooms.

Following the dinner, John Collins, president of the Student Council, offered Msgr. Sheridan congratulations on behalf of the student body of the college.

Cites College Honors
He then introduced Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., professor of English at the college, who spoke on behalf of the faculty.

Dr. Dillon cited the many honors that had marked the long history of the college and in a personal tribute to Msgr. Sheridan said: "It is a signal honor, in which we of the faculty share, that in this our sesquicentennial year the Holy Father has been pleased to honor Msgr. Sheridan. For more than two decades he has watched over the destinies of Mount St. Mary's. What has been accomplished has been in large measure the result of his stewardship."

"We his friends of the faculty are immensely proud that he has been newly honored. We are thrilled by his morning's celebration, as befits the members of a family whose head has received new distinction. We hope, Msgr. Sheridan, that you will pardon us if we bask in your glory. And we pledge anew that we will continue the devotion and loyalty which has marked the faculty of this institution since its founding. In the words of Second Pangborn — these new honors couldn't have happened to a nicer 'guy!'"

Navy Discloses New Torpedo

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A torpedo that is fired from a ship by a rocket, lowered into the water by parachute, and then seeks out an enemy submarine automatically was disclosed by the Navy today.

The rocket-assisted torpedo, called "Rat" for short, will extend a ship's submarine-kill zone to many miles, the Navy announced. The device can be installed on destroyers at relatively low cost.

A spokesman said tests have shown "Rat" to be exceedingly accurate.

The Navy said a rocket propels "Rat" from a destroyer over the target area, then a parachute lowers the missile to the surface of the sea. At this point the homing torpedo plunges beneath the surface and seeks out the enemy sub. Rat is 16 feet long, weighs 450 pounds.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

On Thursday evening last, a colored man, who has been suspected by the colored population of this place of being implicated in attempts to enslave some of his color, was attacked by several women and children in the street and received a terrible thrashing. He was rescued by a police officer, or the consequences might have been serious.

Our friend Frank Hersh, as will be seen in our advertising columns, has gone into the Lumber and Coal Business at New Oxford. He is a first rate businessman, rarely excelled in energy, and whatever he does, he does right. We have not a doubt, therefore, that he will succeed. . . . New Oxford is now an important point for a considerable section of country; and we bespeak for our friend a call from those who may need anything of the kind he will have on hand, or can supply. They will find him clever and accommodating.

Property Sold: The Farm and Mill property of Joseph Cline, containing 95 acres, in Menallen township, was recently sold for $14,112. Henry Eppelman, purchaser.

The Farm of Henry Eppelman, near Bendersville, was sold for $6,000, containing 102 acres. Joseph Cline purchaser.

The Railroad: In another column of our paper will be found an advertisement of the Gettysburg Railroad Co. for a loan of money on their Bonds. We cannot see why capitalists at home should not at once invest their money in these Bonds instead of sending it abroad to be invested in securities about which they know but little. Almost every farmer could spare one hundred dollars, some five hundred and others thousands.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Local Items: Spring elections Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Snow fell on Monday morning to the depth of six inches but is rapidly disappearing.

A. F. Baker of Littlestown has rented the Diller House, Hanover, and will take possession in March.

Joseph Wolf has sold his property in Straban township, 162 acres, to Henry Osborne for $3,240.

Hon. Edward McPherson, Clerk of the House, was in town on Saturday. He left for Washington on Monday.

The ground-hog saw his "shadow" on Friday and according to the old saying wintry weather must continue for six weeks.

George Myers Jr. had the misfortune to break his left arm last week, above the elbow, by being upset out of a sleigh.

Joseph Byers, a well known farmer residing near Emmitsburg, has been elected Great Sachem of the Great Council of Maryland, Improved Order of Red Men.

Arendtsville Items: The revival is still in progress in the Lutheran church in this place, much interest being manifested. Quite a number have professed conversion.

Mr. Samuel A. Swope of this place died at his residence last Sunday afternoon at about 2 o'clock. He was well known in the county, having served a term as Register and Recorder.

Mr. Thomas Samuels of Butler township received a severe gash on the head last Saturday. He was working for Mr. Gitt, under the straw shed, when a decayed log broke from the weight of straw, striking him on the head and rendering him unconscious for a time.

Mr. R. A. Lytle will open a school in this place beginning the first week of April and continuing until July.

The sleighing around here is about over, many travelling in buggies. The little streams which cross the road have cut channels in the ice and made it a little dangerous and unpleasant traveling.

An exhibition of sleight-of-hand, stone breaking and barrel lifting was given here last Thursday and Friday evenings by a traveling company.

Today's Talk

NOT LIFE — BUT LIVING

Life does not hang heavy on the one who is interested more in living than merely in life.

I sometimes think of death as something that is worked TO-WARD. For we are all traveling toward it daily — whether we think of it or not. But to think of it as something to be feared or avoided (which is impossible) is to turn up the precious years that are ours.

Not life — but living is the real adventure!

Thrills are things which come from within — from what we see or experience from without. It's living right in the heart of happenings and being a part of them which brings to us our sense of ownership over triumphs.

Few things are so constructed that they can be saved. At least for any length of time. Even the great painting, the huge structure, the magnificent moving city will sometime crumble — and be but a memory of what the past has to say.

Men's lives — to the most active and triumphant one — are all in the end woven into an even story expressive solely of what the age worked out. Like the tiny bits of sand which make up the extending coast, so do the lives of mortals make up the groundwork of time.

We are important only as we serve. Not life — but living is our task.

Let us keep right on getting up in the morning, washing our faces and eating our breakfasts — and going to our several works — but let us not get confused as to the end of it all. Let us not measure or weigh our acts or doings and then stand out and boast their merit. Let us rather do and dare and dig — and then come tired to our couches — to rest for another day!

Let us keep right at the job — of living — and be glad and happy and helpful — so that the last sleep shall be filled with sweetened odors and our long dream tinted with the rays of the falling sun in its setting.

Then we can say that we — lived!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Why Wangle?"

Just Folks

LOVE

Truth went forth on a search one day
For the source of love, that he might say
He had found its depth and its breadth for aye.

He met a miser, bent and old,
And his mission to him he promptly told.
"Love," said the miser, "is yellow gold!"

He sought a maiden young and fair,
With orange blossoms in her hair,
Who whispered: "My love is waiting there."

To a struggling youth at last
Truth came;
As he toiled and stunted and spoke his name,
"Love," said the youth, "is a thing called Fame."

"Love!" mocked a man with features sour,
Before whom others were made to cower,
"Love! yes, love is worldly power."

A pale, weak woman Truth chanced to see,
Rocking a baby on her knee;
"Only a mother knows love," said she.

U. S. BUYING OF GRAIN MAY BE FARMER BOON

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG (P)—Government grain purchasing programs may be a direct boon to Pennsylvania farmers because of their effect on the feed market.

The Commonwealth basically is a feed-buying state. It purchases great quantities of outside grain production to support its vast dairy and poultry industries.

Generally, the attitude of the state's farmers has been that price support activity has meant they have had to pay higher prices for feed grains than they would if there were a free market.

Trend Is Downward

However, the trend in feed grain prices since 1951 has been steadily downward. The apparent reason: Government-owned supplies of surplus feed grains purchased under price support programs have steadily increased.

The total carryover surplus in 1952 was a little more than 20 million tons. In 1957 the carryover for this year will be nearly 50 million tons.

Production of feed grains has been increasing, while the number of livestock has remained relatively constant. The tremendous surplus of feed grains serves to depress the market since government supplies are still on hand and available for sale in domestic markets or for export at a future date.

Feed Supply Up

The lower feed prices this winter have resulted generally in favorable livestock-feed price ratios, the government reported. Particularly significant as far as Pennsylvania farmers are concerned is that prices of dairy products and eggs are above average relative to prices of dairy and poultry ration. Broilers aren't doing so well, with prices continuing below the 1946-55 averages relative to feed costs.

The total supply of feed grains and other concentrates for 1957-58 is now estimated at 218 million tons nationally, up 9 per cent over last year. It probably means another boost in the surplus carryover of feed grains, meaning more pressure to push down feed prices.

This indicates that if the total numbers of livestock continue to remain constant, holding prices at the present range, livestock and livestock products producers will face a more profitable future.

The exposition committee, headed by L. H. Bull, met here Friday. M. K. Huber of Hershey was named its treasurer and David Unger, director of soil conservation for the State Agriculture Department, was made secretary.

Ralph E. Patterson, Pennsylvania State University, was named chairman of the plowing contest subcommittee; Ralph W. Hunter, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, was named chairman of the conservation subcommittee; James Bobb, Hershey, was chosen chairman of the local arrangements subcommittee, and John B. The exposition is expected to attract 100,000 persons.

Man Killed In Crash Into Truck

LEWISBURG, Pa. (P)—A Pottsville motorist, Harry Freeman, was killed on Friday afternoon when his auto smashed head-on into a huge truck stalled on a hill during a snowstorm.

The accident occurred on state Route 45, about 16 miles west of here near the Laurelton State Village, Union County Coroner Harry T. Beck said the victim, whose age was estimated at between 45 and 50, was employed as a plumber in State College.

George Henry Wagner, Baltimore, driver of the truck, said he was putting on chains, when he saw Freeman's car hurtle toward him, on the left side of the road. Wagner said he scrambled out from under the truck and, without waiting to see the collision, ran to a nearby service station to call police and an ambulance.

occupied with the seats than their lessons, prompting the Rev. Forest Youngquist to observe: "We'll have to put in portable chairs and tables."

SAY TEAMSTERS MAY TAKE BACK D. BECK'S HOME

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (P)—The Teamsters Union bosses today were reported considering repossessing the lavish union-owned home that Dave Beck, the union's ex-president, occupies in Seattle, Wash.

This is one of several "cleanup moves" reported due for discussion by Beck's successor, James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters chiefs gathered here for an executive board meeting.

Beck was due here to plead against taking away his free lodgings.

Considering Reforms

The Teamsters, largest U. S. union with 1,400,000 members, were expelled from the AFL-CIO two months ago on grounds of corrupt leadership.

Hoffa, now at the trucker union helm although one of those under criticism, was reported aiming at adapting a series of reforms looking toward re-entry into the federation.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has made it clear, however, that Hoffa himself must forsake any top Teamsters post before the union will be taken back into the main body of organized labor. Hoffa apparently hasn't the slightest idea of quitting.

Rent Free, Tax Free

Beck sold the Seattle home he now occupies to the Teamsters for $163,000 under a deal under which he continued to live in it rent and tax free at union expense. There was Senate committee testimony that union funds were used in part to build the home in the first place.

It was also testified that Beck got the Teamsters to buy the home because he needed funds to pay some he owed the union. Beck said he borrowed more than $300,000 from the Teamsters.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said the money was stolen and Beck was trying to cover up.

The word, cotton, originated among medieval Arab traders who called it "quattan," meaning "a plant found in foreign lands."

Trucker Killed 3 Vehicle Collision

LIVERPOOL, Pa. (P)—A Lancaster County truck driver was killed on Route 11-15 near this Perry County community on Friday in a three-truck collision.

State police said a truck driven by Earl Y. Kurtz, 23, of Kinzer brushed a truck it was passing, then jackknifed and collided with an on-coming truck. Kurtz died several hours later at Sunbury Community Hospital. Don William Lovell, 37, Camp Hill R. 1, Dauphin County, driver of the on-coming truck, was reported in fair condition.

The other driver, Russell Scholl, 41, Port Trevorton R. 2, Snyder County, escaped injury.

DOPE SUSPECTS PLEAD INNOCENT

CAMDEN, N.J. (P)—Six of seven persons accused of being part of a tri-state narcotics ring which federal, state and local authorities cracked last Jan. 23 have pleaded innocent in U. S. District Court.

Entering the pleas on Friday were: Peter Casella, 50, Ventnor, N.J., who is accused by police of heading the ring; James Santore, 43, Frank Malli, 41 and Mrs. Marion Medley, 33, all of Philadelphia; Nicholas Serrian, 32, Vineland, N.J., and James Simmons, 46, Williamstown, N.J., operator of a motel where several of the arrests were made.

All are being held in default of bail ranging from $35,000 to $85,000. Their trial dates are scheduled to be set next Friday.

Law enforcement authorities, making raids in southern New Jersey, Philadelphia and Long Island, N.Y., seized heroin valued at two million dollars.

ASK CONCESSION BIDS

HARRISBURG (P)—The Forests and Waters Department has called for bids March 4 on operation of concessions at five state parks.

They are Black Moshannon, Centre County; Caledonia, Franklin County; Pine Grove Furnace, Cumberland County; Hickory Run, Carbon County, and Leonard Harrison, Tioga County.

The concessions are awarded for a one-year period, subject to optional renewal for each of an additional two years.

Cattle, Fruit, Vegetables, Tourists Hard Hit By Cold Spells Lambasting Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Florida is enduring its worst winter in history. It braced itself today for new assaults of cold weather on resort and farming industries.

Low temperatures and rain already have killed cattle, blighted lush citrus groves and winter vegetables and put tourists to flight.

The president of the Florida Cattlemen's Assn. said recently he had never known cattle to be in such bad shape—with the worst month of the year staring them in the face.

J. O. Pearce Jr., said "February is always our worst winter month," and predicted 275,000 cattle would die in the next five weeks because of lack of feed.

Fear Starvation

"So far the cattle that have died have died because of the weather, but starvation will enter the picture between now and spring. Cold weather through February would mean a very serious condition around the middle of March," Pearce said.

Cattle have weakened because Florida's three freezes killed grass. What grass wasn't killed was submerged by water from heavy rains.

"The cattle bed down in the water or on damp ground and when morning comes they have pneumonia and can't get up," Pearce said. "Another cold, rainy night with wind would just about ruin all of us."

U. S. Extends Aid

The U. S. Agriculture Department has extended to Feb. 26 the time in which stockmen in 11 Florida counties can get free government feed grains for distressed livestock. The period had been scheduled to end Saturday.

Citrus crop losses from the mid-December freeze have been set at a minimum of 26 million dollars but an industry leader says losses will be offset by higher prices for the remaining crop.

Fruit losses, damage to trees and unemployment present a serious threat to the state economy, said Homer Hooks, general manager of the Florida Citrus Commission.

Ask Tax Concession

The citrus commission has asked Gov. LeRoy Collins to give citrus growers special consideration in tax assessments. Collins also was asked to request nearby states to take citrus workers for other farm harvests.

Hooks said the smaller supply of oranges has jumped the price from $2.50 to $4.50 a box.

The present cold weather found little left to hurt in Florida's lush winter vegetable growing areas near the peninsula's southern tip.

This week's freeze destroyed more than two-thirds of a 15,000-acre tomato crop in Dade (Miami) County, according to county agent Nolan Urre. He estimated a yield of only 30 to 70 per cent on the 4,000 acres not destroyed.

Penny Edwards Is Given Divorce

LOS ANGELES (P)—Actress Penny Edwards has a divorce after testifying her husband was still in love with a former girl friend.

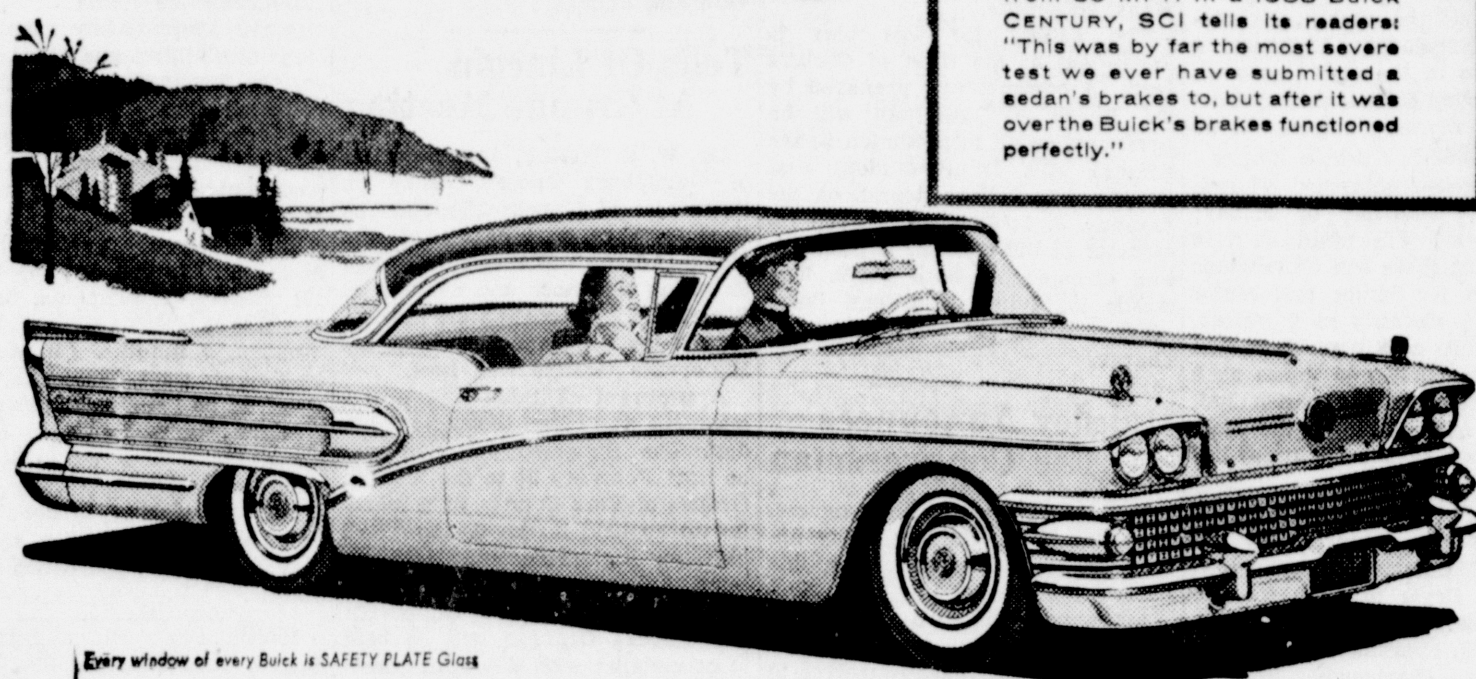

Miss Edwards, 27, accused Ralph H. Winters, 39, casting director, of cruelty.

She told a judge on Friday that he once said "he didn't love me and never loved me. He said he never got over his love for the girl he knew before we were married."

She didn't identify the other girl. The couple married Oct. 21, 1951. The court approved $1 a month token alimony and $200 monthly support for two small daughters.

The several Farne Islands (16 acres in area) off the Northumberland coast of England, had only three inhabitants in 1931. Today there are complaints that they are overpopulated.

Bullets Jolt Lehigh 72-70; Freshmen Win 58-57; Play At Elizabethtown Wednesday

Gettysburg College's dribblers pulled a big surprise Saturday evening at Bethlehem where they took a thriller, 72-70 over Lehigh, avenging a 66-55 setback sustained here at the hands of the Engineers last month.

Playing deliberate ball and connecting for 22 of 45 shots from the floor, the Bullets led most of the way during the first half and then put on a fine finish in the last few minutes to win their fourth decision against 12 losses.

The Bullets got off to an early lead and maintained their advantage which hit 33-23 with 4:50 minutes left in the first half. Lehigh came on at that point to take a 37-36 lead at halftime.

The lead changed hands several times in the second half, Lehigh getting its last lead at 51-50. Del Warfel and Frank Grzelecki landed fouls to put Gettysburg on top 52-51 at the midway mark in the half. It was close the rest of the way. With two minutes remaining the Bullets' advantage was 66-63 on Bob Walsack's lay-up. A foul and drive-in goal by Dan Nolan slashed the margin to 68-66 with 1:30 remaining.

Sizzling Finish
Frank Capitani came through with a lay-up and Marty Kaye, who became eligible at midyear, dropped through a pair of free tosses to make it 72-66 with 30 seconds remaining. Goals by Eckert and Zelenko for Lehigh closed the gap as time ran out.

Warfel turned in one of his best performances of the season, landing nine goals on but 15 shots and caged six of seven charity tosses for 24 points while also capturing 21 rebounds. The rough play of the Engineers gave the Bullets 38 foul tries and they converted 28. Dan Nolan, Lehigh grid great, rammed through 20 points.

Graham's Goal Clincher
A 15-foot field goal by Phil Graham with four seconds remaining gave Howard Shoemaker's freshmen a thrilling 58-57 victory in the preliminary to even their record at 6-6. It was a nip and tuck battle all the way. With 1:05 left Bill Fitzkee put the Bullets on top 56-55. Dobrota scored from underneath to send Lehigh to the front 57-56 with nine seconds remaining before

TALBERT LOSES DAVIS CUP POST

NEW YORK (AP)—The Western segment of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn.—the sport's ruling body—has taken control and eased Bill Talbert out of the Davis Cup captaincy.

It also reopened the question of an "open" tournament, apparently aimed at ending Eastern domination of the USLTA. Perry T. Jones, long-time czar of West Coast tennis, was named Davis Cup captain, succeeding Graham came through with his winning heave.

Both Gettysburg teams have two engagements on foreign floors this week, playing doubleheaders at Elizabethtown Wednesday evening, and at Lebanon Valley Saturday night.

Celtics Lose Third; Are Hard Pressed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That 14 game winning streak the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. ran off at the beginning of the season is standing them in good stead now—probably good enough to give them the eastern division title even though they have only seven healthy men.

Tom Heinsohn is the latest casualty, joining Bill Sharman and Frank Ramsey who have body injuries. Heinsohn was sent home Saturday night with an apparent case of food poisoning after the Celtics beat the Cincinnati Royals 109-91 in Rochester.

The toll began to tell yesterday as Syracuse rolled up an easy 123-98 victory with the Celtics benching Bob Cousy and Bill Russell when the Nats moved far ahead.

Philadelphia beat St. Louis 105-98. New York knocked over Detroit 100-98 and Cincinnati defeated Minneapolis 121-104 in other Sunday action.

Talbert, who had served since 1953.

The West has been opposed to the East's handling of America's tennis fortunes and the naming of Jones was apparently the coup in its rise to power.

The announcement was made by Victor Denny of Seattle, newly elected president of the association, who at the same time disclosed sweeping changes in the administration of the organization. Denny said his group would continue to explore the possibilities of an open tournament—which would match amateurs and professionals.

MAJOR COLLEGE BASKETBALL IS DEEP IN RACES IN CONFERENCES

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Major college basketball, given a lift by the three-way scrap for the individual scoring title, plods deeper into the now-or-never stage this week in the run for conference championships and postseason tournament berths.

Cincinnati's Bearcats figure in both angles in a pair of games. Oscar Robertson is bidding to overhaul leader Elgin Baylor of Seattle in return bouts with Bradley and Oklahoma State.

The Bearcats, whose only defeats in 18 games came at Bradley and Oklahoma State, get the home break in these two. A victory over Bradley Wednesday would go a long way toward clinching the Missouri Valley Conference title and an automatic NCAA Tournament berth. Cincinnati is 8-1 in conference play.

No Easy Ones

Bradley, 6-1 in the Mo-Valley and 13-4 over-all after Saturday's 64-52 defeat at Oklahoma State, figures to defend its NTT crown if it places second in the conference race.

Oklahoma State is a nonleague foe, shooting for an at-large tournament spot. Neither game figures to be an easy-scoring night for Oscar, particularly the Saturday meeting with Oklahoma State's ball-control bunch.

Chamberlain Third

Oscar warmed up with 43 Saturday as Cincinnati whipped St. Joseph's 100-78 at Philadelphia. That gave him 593 points in 18 games and a 32.94 average.

Baylor counted 46 in a 107-71 Seattle breeze past Gonzaga, upping his average to 33.72 on 607 points in 18 games.

All America Wilt Chamberlain stayed a close third notching 46 points, a Big Eight record, as Kansas walloped Nebraska 102-46. Wilt is averaging 32.86 with 460 points in 14 games.

Upset For Rice

Baylor has just one game this week, against Regis Thursday. Chamberlain shoots against Colorado tonight and Iowa State Saturday.

In other conference races, Rice hustled back into the Southwest title picture by upsetting first-place Arkansas 54-46. Southern Methodist pulled into a second-place tie with Rice, a half-game behind Arkansas, by eliminating Texas Christian 84-67. SMU is at Arkansas tomorrow night.

The Big Ten continued its hectic pattern with Michigan jumping back into first place on an 88-81 victory over Illinois while Indiana was dumping Michigan State out of the top spot 82-79 and Purdue was bouncing Ohio State 83-63. Michigan is at Minnesota tonight, and could have trouble.

W.Va. Beats Richmond

In the Pacific Coast, California regained a share of the top with UCLA by beating the Uclans 61-58. Kentucky is 8-1 in the South-eastern after whipping Mississippi 96-65.

Top-ranked West Virginia is unbeaten atop the Southern Conference after defeating Richmond 72-60 and can clinch the regular-season pennant by beating William & Mary tonight with Virginia Military Wednesday.

The Atlantic Coast Conference follows the same formula, with Duke coming along fast as a dark horse bet. The Blue Devils made NCAA champ and seventh-ranked North Carolina their seventh consecutive victim, 91-75.

XAVIER QUINT DEFEATS YORK

The St. Francis Xavier school basketball team drubbed a grade school team from York here Sunday, 64-51.

Rohrbaugh was the big man for the winners, dropping through 16 goals and five fouls for 37 points. After trailing 16-11 at the end of the first period, the Xavier boys took a 26-19 lead at half time.

Mt. St. Mary's College suffered a stunning 67-63 Mason-Dixon Conference setback at the hands of Loyola in Baltimore Saturday evening.

The defending conference champions are now 6-1 in league play and 11-6 overall.

The Mount trailed throughout the second half although managing to tie the score four times, the last at 49-49. Gene Nieberlein who led the Hounds with 20 points, poured through seven at that point to spark Loyola to its upset victory.

Nieberlein's foul sent the Greyhounds ahead with 6:39 left and he made it 53-59 with a push shot and foul. Joe O'Hara added a goal before Bert Sheing led the Mount to within 56-55.

MSM In Contention

A three-pointer by Nieberlein was matched by Sheing's one-handed which kept the Mount in contention. Jack Cummings of Loyola then dropped through four straight fouls via some pressure shooting and John Heagney sank two penalty tosses in the final 14 seconds to clinch the outcome.

This week the Mountaineers have three league engagements. They play at American University Wednesday; at Catholic University on Friday, and Saturday night host the present unbeaten league-leaders Hampden-Sydney, at Emmitsburg.

CRAWFORD TO SEEK NEW WIN OVER GONZALES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Crawford, 23-year-old Saginaw, Mich., boxer, hopes to continue his climb toward a national ranking tonight by making Tex Gonzalez his second 1958 victim. They meet in a 10-round match at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

In his only 1958 start, Mickey moved up to the middleweight class to whip favored Chico Vejar. As a welter, he lost once once in 11 bouts last year, that one to Ralph Dupas.

Gonzalez, 24, is a South Orange, N.J., fighter recently discharged from the Army. He had time for only one scrap last year, winning a decision over Jay Anderson.

Crawford's record is 19-2, Gonzalez's 24-6-1.

Du Mont will telecast in some sections.

In Garden Friday

Gale Kerwin and Stefan Redi, two youngsters with big ambitions, top the Friday show at Madison Square Garden. Redi is just back from service. Kerwin, a Canadian who now lives in Valley Stream, N.Y., has captured the fancy of fans in recent bouts with Johnny Bussio and Jimmy Archer.

Kerwin, 23, stepped in against Bussio on short notice as a sub and dropped a decision in a close fight. In his first Garden main event under his own steam, he whipped Archer Dec. 20.

Redi is unbeaten with a 17-0 record including 13 knockouts.

Joey Giardello, the No. 4 middleweight contender from Philadelphia, keeps busy while he waits for Carmen Basilio and Sugar Ray Robinson to finish their business. Giardello takes on Franz Szuzina of Germany in a Wednesday show at the Philadelphia Arena. It's a rematch. In 1956 at Milwaukee, Giardello won a decision over Franz.

INDIANS GAIN IN HOCKEY RACE

The resurgent Springfield Indians, occupants of last place in the American Hockey League for a good part of the season, have moved within striking distance of third place.

Springfield shaded Providence 4-3 last night and now trail the Reds by only two points. In other games the pacesetter Hershey Bears downed the cellar-dwelling Buffalo Bisons 4-1 and the runner-up Cleveland Barons eked out a 2-1 verdict over the fifth-place Rochester Americans.

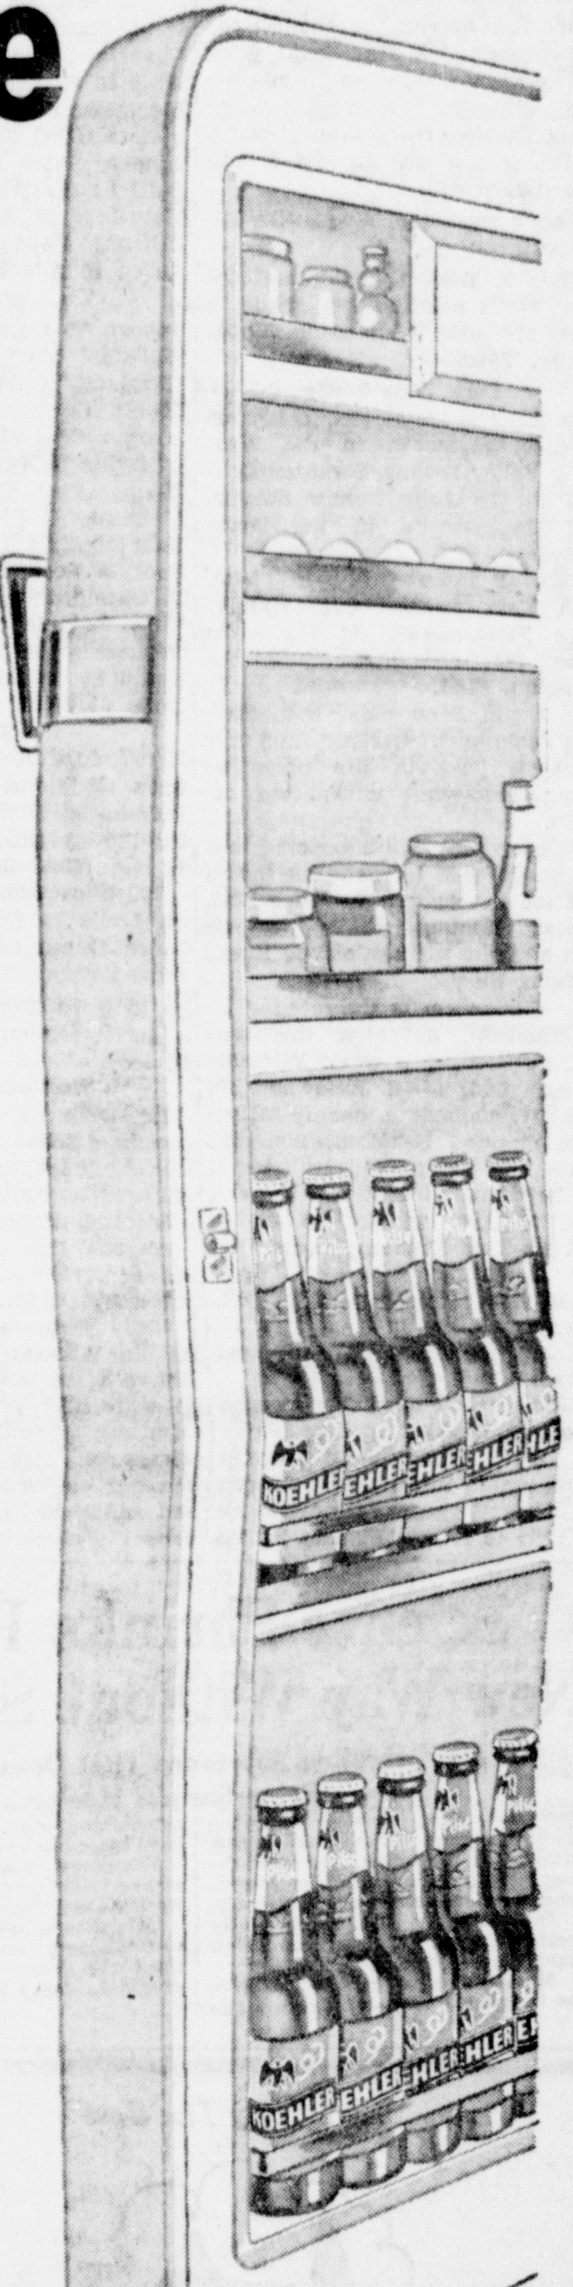

The Arnie Kulman-Ed Panagabko-Ed Stankiewicz line accounted for three goals in Hershey's success over Buffalo. Each player scored once and Willie Marshall, the league's leading scorer, caged the other goal.

Springfield overwhelmed Buffalo 12-3, Hershey edged Providence 3-2 and Cleveland topped Rochester 5-2 in Saturday's games.

West Virginia University led the colleges in 1957 by placing three players in the first three rounds of the National Football League player draft.

CAGE LEADERS CONTINUE WINS AS ANTICIPATED

HARRISBURG (AP)—The eastern powers in Pennsylvania schoolboy basketball continue to roll over their opponents in the style that has come to be expected of them. Chester, Bethlehem and Williamsport are the hottest squads in the east. York does not look too bad.

In the west, the picture is marked by upsets, with one league leader and defending champ—Meadville—now in second place. But Erie Strong Vincent, Sharon and Farrell—the traditional western powers—remained front-runners, although their recent losses could damage more than prestige. In the case of Sharon and Farrell they likely will.

Here's what happened in the latest outings:

Chester, Dist. 1 leader and the 1957 state semifinalist, made it nine straight by beating Upper Darby, 77-56.

York Wins Easily

In Dist. 2, league leaders came through, Plymouth in the Wyoming Valley League, Scranton Central in the Lackawanna League, and Swoyersville in the North League.

Central Penn. first-half champion York romped over Harrisburg Penn., 60-43. At the same time, 1957 champ Reading took Lebanon, 56-51.

In South Penn. play, both first-half champion Carlisle and the team it beat in the playoff—Waynesboro—met unexpected defeats.

Independent Williamsport took Shamokin 68-58 to make its record 12-2 for the season. In other Dist. 4 play, Sunbury chalked up its 15th straight win against no losses, downing Bloomsburg 55-45.

Bethlehem Is Unbeaten

Bethlehem, unbeaten this season, disposed of a weak Pottsville as expected, 65-44. Elsewhere in Dist. 11, defending champ Allentown dumped Hazleton, now out of the picture for district honors. Erie Strong Vincent saw the end of a 10-game winning streak in Dist. 10. Erie Academy turned the trick, 50-43.

Meadville also had bad luck, losing first place in Sect. 2 to Titusville, with which it had been tied at 5-1.

In the WPAL, Ford City stepped out of its section to edge Farrell, 48-44, while state champ Sharon bowed to Alliquippa. Sharon and Farrell seem almost sure this year to let the district honors

Westmont Is Upset

In Dist. 6, where defending champ Altoona appears strongest, tri-county league leader Westmont suffered a set back at the hands of second running Windber.

DuBois, second behind Punxsutawney, did not make a go of it, however. A fourth-ranking Kane had other ideas and roughly set back the challenger, 52-35.

LIONEL HEBERT WINS $15,000 TUCSON OPEN

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Conservative golf gave Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., the championships of the $15,000 Tucson Open an sent him to the San Antonio Open this week richer by $2,000.

Playing his shots with caution after taking the lead on the second hole of the final round, the PGA champ came home with a 66 for the par-70, 6,434-yard El Rio layout. He had a 72-hole total of 265, 15 under par.

Putting played a big role in his first medal play win of the PGA circuit. For several weeks before, putting had been troubling him.

Don January, Eastland, Tex., one of the bumper crop of promising youngsters, lost the one-stroke lead he held at the start of the final round when Hebert took a birdie 3 on the first hole. January went two over par on the No. 2 hole. He finished with 69 for the round and a total of 267, 13 under par, for $1,500 second-place money.

Three Bogies

Three bogies didn't rattle big John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich. Six birdies, including one on the 18th when his approach was behind a heavy clump of trees, brought him home with 67 and a 72-hole total of 269, good for third-place money of $1,200.

Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., the winner's older brother, birdied five of the last nine holes to finish with 65 and a total of 272. Ken Venturi, San Francisco, winner of the recent Palm Springs, Calif., and Phoenix opens and the pretourney favorite; Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., the defending champ, and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., were also tied at 272. Each earned $862.50.

France To Prevent Bombing Repetition

PARIS (AP)—Diplomatic sources said today that France has told the United States steps would be considered to prevent any repetition of such incidents as Saturday's bombing of a Tunisian village in which 78 persons were killed and 84 wounded.

These sources said the French Ministry secretary general, Louis Joxe, told U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton, that the French Cabinet would consider such steps and would also launch an inquiry into how the incident took place.

The French official was described as being very disturbed by the incident at Sakiet Sidj Youssef.

He was reported to have told the United States that there were 16 incidents provoked by forces from the Tunisian side of the frontier in the period from November to December and another half a dozen such incidents in January.

SCRIBE'S MAIL DELIVERS SOME TASTY TIDBITS OF LITTLE VALUE

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That if you light a girl's cigarette in Denmark and she blows out the match, it means you can steal a kiss.

That an African lion can charge at a speed of 40 m.p.h. . . . roughly 10 miles faster than an angry wife.

That half the cars on American highways now are equipped with automatic transmissions.

Not Many Bald Sheep
That it takes 65,000 gallons of water to produce one ton of steel.

That the pulse of a snail, according to the Fisherman magazine, beats at the same rate as yours does. Better not let your boss know this.

That some European researchers believe sheep dip is the best treatment for baldness. Come to think of it, how long has it been since you've seen a bald sheep?

Difference in Models
That Grace Downs, model school operator, explains the difference between an artist's model and a fashion model thusly: "Everything an artist's model shows belongs to her. Everything a fashion model shows belongs to the manufacturer."

That some road maps now are so big you need another road map to show you how to fold them.

That men today believe it's sissy to get their hair curled but in ancient Rome wavy locks were so manly that men's barber shops used curling irons almost as much as razors.

Have Your $1,000?
That during the last 10 years Americans have accumulated 160 billion dollars in personal savings . . . nearly $1,000 a person.

That in Cuba they don't seem to have heard of a recession . . . the most popular slot machines in the new Havana Rivera Casino are those that take silver dollars. Those who play the nickel machines pretend they're only slumming.

That the nation could exist 22 years on its known gas reserves without finding a new source of supply. The same thing is true of its supply of hot air.

Dollars From Bohemia
That about 40 per cent of the American families earning $4,000 a year or less own their own homes, and the rate rises to 79 per cent among families with an annual income of more than $7,500.

That your wife can save on soap flakes if she whips them with an egg beater. When I give my own wife such helpful little household hints, she demands suspiciously, "Well, and just where did you learn that?"

That our word "dollar" comes from Thal, a town in Bohemia where coins called thalers were first minted early in the 17th Century.

Quotes O. Henry
That a hummingbird can beat its wings up to 200 strokes a second . . . and fly backward as well as forward.

That Dr. Carlton Fredericks, the nutritionist, advises TV addicts to snack on chopped chicken livers during station breaks. They contain riboflavin, which helps eyesight.

That it was O. Henry who said, "If men knew how women pass the time when they are alone, they'd never marry."

Leslie D. Park, executive director, United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Harrisburg.

George F. Reimer, executive director, Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Harrisburg.

Dr. S. June Smith, supervisor of special education, Lancaster County public schools.

Eleven persons were killed in accidents in Pennsylvania over the weekend. Seven of them met death in traffic mishaps, three persons died in fires, and an industrial accident took another life. Sledging accidents took the lives of two boys.

Emanuel Sacks Dies On Sunday

Sacks, who headed the television network's talent and program departments, had been ill since last October.

He was a trustee of Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa.; president of Beth Israel Synagogue, and a member of the board of directors of the Einstein Medical Center.

A native of Philadelphia, Sacks attended Pennsylvania Military College and in 1933 was named as Philadelphia's Man of the Year.

He joined RCA in January, 1950, as director of artists relations for RCA Victor and was elected staff vice president of RCA the following December. He became the head of NBC's talent and programs in November, 1955.

A bachelor, Sacks is survived by his mother, Mrs. Harry N. Sacks, a brother, Lester, and three sisters, Mrs. Stella Cravis, Mrs. Samuel Haber and Mrs. Bella Rush, all of Philadelphia.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Still no answer to the question: Who decides a president is disabled when he can't or won't decide himself? Congress may do again this year what it has always done before: nothing.

The Constitution simply says that if a president can't perform his duties, they shall "devolve on the vice president."

Congress and constitutional lawyers have argued the problem for years. Should the President decide if he is disabled, or the vice president, or some kind of commission?

Never Stepped Aside
No president in history, no matter how ill, has stepped aside even temporarily for his vice president. The word "temporarily" raises still another question:

Suppose a disabled president turns his duties over to the vice president, then recovers and wants to resume the presidency but the vice president won't turn the job back to him.

Is a commission the answer? But what kind of commission? Members of the President's Cabinet? The Supreme Court? Doctors? Members of Congress? Or members from all three branches of government?

This year a forward step — if it can be called that — was taken in Congress. Key Democrats and Republicans in the House agreed on this:

A commission should be created to decide presidential disability. Its members: the vice president, secretary of state, speaker of the House, president pro tempore of the Senate, and the Democratic and Republican leaders from House and Senate. Total: eight.

But the vice president, speaker and president pro tempore should have no vote. Thus only the secretary of state and the Democratic and Republican leaders of House and Senate could vote, or a total of five.

And the same group could decide when a president was no longer disabled and was fit to resume office. But this may never get to a full House vote. Even if approved there, the Senate may pass it over.

COUNSEL FOR FCC EXPECTED TO BE OUSTED

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee investigating the Federal Communications Commission meets today with all signs pointing to the probable ouster of its controversial counsel Bernard Schwartz.

The firing of Schwartz in a dispute over his expense vouchers could lead to a lengthy delay in the group's probe of the FCC and other regulatory agencies. This investigation has aroused considerable dissension within the subcommittee, chiefly over Schwartz's handling of hearings on the FCC last week.

In advance of the subcommittee meeting, Schwartz denied there was anything irregular about certain of his expense accounts totaling $400. But he predicted: "They are going to fire me." He said he would not resign. Two subcommittee members, one a critic and the other a backer of Schwartz, agreed he was probably on his way out.

Asked Public Hearings
Schwartz contended he is being ousted because he wanted public hearings that he said would go into some cases of White House influence.

The Washington Post quoted him as saying "we have actual evidence" that Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, "has played a part in cases involving several regulatory agencies."

Without going into details, Schwartz also said the hearings would have touched on Secretary of Commerce Weeks; Col. George Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law; former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; former Undersecretary of Commerce Robert B. Murray Jr.; an unidentified FCC member; and "possibly" Vice President Nixon.

No Comment
There was no immediate comment from the White House or from any of those mentioned by Schwartz.

The 34-year-old subcommittee counsel said that "powerful interests . . . will stop at nothing" to halt the probe of the FCC. He said the issue raised over his expenses is "an attempt to divert the investigation which . . . will succeed."

The Post quoted Schwartz as saying Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the parent House Commerce Committee was using his disputed expense account as a means of forcing his resignation just as the subcommittee was due to open hearings tomorrow on what Schwartz termed an FCC "pay-off" in the granting of a TV license. He did not elaborate on this.

The FCC probe has centered so far on allegations — based on a memorandum prepared by Schwartz — that some commission members improperly accepted favors from the broadcasting industry. These favors allegedly included travel and other expenses when FCC members attended radio-TV trade meetings.

BROKEN WATER MAIN IN JERSEY CLOSES SCHOOLS

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—A broken water main threatened cave-ins or explosions in a third of the city today. Authorities closed schools and industrial plants in the affected area and some residents began moving out.

More than a thousand policemen, firemen, city and Hudson County workers searched for the break in the city's 54-year-old water system.

Fire officials warned residents of the danger of fires. Apparatus was rushed to a small blaze in the heart of the stricken area but the fire was only a garbage truck aflame.

Fire Chief Thomas J. Maloney ordered the plants and schools in the area closed for the day in an effort to keep water consumption to a minimum.

20 Schools Closed
The city is a heavily industrialized community of some 308,000 persons on the Hudson River opposite New York City.

A total of 20 public and parochial schools were closed. The huge Colgate Palmolive and U.S. Gypsum plants were among those shut down.

City engineer Harold Ohland said about 1,500,000 gallons of water were being lost every hour.

When the break first developed, about 100,000 residents—a third of this city's population—were without water.

Later, partial service was restored to residents and fire hydrants in the affected area by raising pressure.

Maloney said he ordered the schools and plants closed so as to keep water pressure up in case of fire.

Ohland said the danger of fire or explosion had been minimized but added that the situation was still serious.

Public Works Director August W. Heckman declared a state of emergency in the city.

Police issued an emergency warning to residents who own coal stoves or heaters with water jackets. If the water in these jackets evaporates, they pointed out, the entire apparatus will explode.

Police urged all residents who have such heaters to shut them off immediately if it appears they are out of water.

Democrats To Select Slate February 20; GOP Chairmen From 6 Counties Summoned

By LEONARD UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—Feb. 20 shaped up today as the tentative target by Democrats to slate candidates for governor, U. S. senator and other statewide offices for the May 20 primary election.

State Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said he was considering that date—five days in advance of the first day to circulate nomination petitions—for a meeting of the Democratic Policy Committee.

On the Republican side, chairmen from six southeastern Pennsylvania counties were called into session at Philadelphia during the day to lay the ground-work for developing the GOP statewide ticket.

"The meeting in Philadelphia is a first step toward getting the consensus of Republicans in Pennsylvania," George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, told the Associated Press.

Plan Other Sessions
Other regional GOP sessions are planned between now and Feb. 25 but the question remained whether a primary fight can be avoided.

William S. Livengood Jr., former secretary of internal affairs, contends he is in to stay as a candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

And Rep. James E. Van Zandt of Altoona made it clear yesterday he had no intention of being counted out as a GOP candidate for U. S. senator. He said such talk was "malicious rumor."

Bloom and James F. Malone, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Assn., have described Arthur T. McGonigle, Reading pretzel manufacturer, as the type of candidate Republicans should nominate, without actually endorsing him.

Seek Stop Fight
Democrats have the same problem of avoiding a primary battle. Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman has said there is no chance of him withdrawing as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Furman insists he won't change his position despite the all-out effort to get him out of the gubernatorial support given to Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia by Gov. Leader and Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh.

In an interview with the Harrisburg Sunday Patriot-News, Lawrence said Dilworth was the "stronger" candidate in comparison with Furman.

"Dilworth Is Stronger"
"I think Dilworth is stronger than anybody that's been mentioned," said Lawrence.

Furman is "a likable fellow" but Lawrence would not go much beyond that in describing the lieutenant governor's qualifications for higher office.

Furman told reporters Saturday after a confidential meeting with Lawrence: "Naturally I want Mr. Lawrence's backing but I did not pressure him for it."

Police issued an emergency warning to residents who own coal stoves or heaters with water jackets. If the water in these jackets evaporates, they pointed out, the entire apparatus will explode.

Police urged all residents who have such heaters to shut them off immediately if it appears they are out of water.

Why there's a new Imperial standing in J.B.'s driveway

FOR FIFTY YEARS, another popular fine car took Mr. J. B. to and from the steel plant where he is Vice President and Plant Manager. Just one month ago, J. B. broke a 15-year habit, went out, and bought a new Imperial. Why? "Got to keep up with the times," he told us, smiling. "I think that—today—the Imperial is the best-looking car you can buy in this country. I've always known its engineering reputation. But I'd never driven the car. Now I'm really impressed." Some of the things that impressed J. B. were these. The Imperial's unique feeling of great, deep-breathing power combined with light, disciplined control. The years-ahead Imperial pushbutton drive. The marvelous stability and buoyancy of Imperial's exclusive suspension system, which means a more level, perfect ride on the tightest curve, roughest road, or quickest stop. Why don't you try the great car that is causing so many knowing buyers to switch. Look at and drive the triumphant beautiful Imperial. IMPERIAL . . . FINEST PRODUCT OF CHRYSLER CORP.

Lawyer Lincoln For The Defense

By CARL G. HODGES

glanced up at Lincoln. "Charlie Allen is hiding out at the Virginia House. If he can't testify none against Duff, then they will have to throw the case out of court, on account of Allen is the only good witness they got."

The woman's face flushed at her son's statement. She looked at Lincoln apologetically. "That's what the townspeople are saying, Abe. That we spirited Allen away from Beardstown and hid him in Virginia so he couldn't testify against my Duff like he lied against Jim Norris in Havana."

Strange Names

"Havana" and "Virginia" were names given to towns in Illinois by wishful-thinking settlers.

Lincoln smiled sadly. "Did you, Hannah?"

The handkerchief touched her nose again. She looked him in the eyes. "No, Abe, I didn't."

"Whether we like it or not, Hannah, or whether we want it or not, Charles Allen will be found and brought to testify. But just because the sheriff mounts his horse and rides east we must not take it for granted he is seeking Allen."

The boy said, "They are going to arrest Allen. Make him testify. They issued a detachment."

His mother said reprovingly, "Attachment, Porter." She smiled at Lincoln briefly.

He said, "Attachment, Summons. Either is correct, Hannah." He suddenly moved to the edge of the porch and sat down, his long shanks making a sharp inclined plane backward to his lap. He put his top hat flat on the porch beside him and eased the soft collar around his throat. It was moist and grimy from the heat and dust of the day.

Allen's Whereabouts

He looked inquiringly at Hannah Armstrong, who had picked up her fan and resumed her seat in the rocker. "Whether you had anything to do with spiriting Allen away, or whether the townsfolk just accuse you of it, do you know for a certainty that Charles Allen is in Virginia?"

"We did not spirit him away," Her mouth was firm, her gaze hard on him. "But we have heard many say that he will not appear for the trial. He is rumored in Virginia. At the Virginia House."

Lincoln said, "It would be best if you could bring him back to Beardstown. The cousins could do it yet today. Jake Jones and the other one."

She was startled. "We? Bring back a witness against my boy? Why?"

He put a finger inside his collar, brought it away damp with sweat. Rubbed his hand through coarse, unruly hair. "If Allen does not appear as a witness, the state will ask for a continuance. That will mean six more months in jail for Duff."

"Would you rather that my boy be hung?" she cried, angry at the man in whom she had put her trust.

HOST, REFEREE ON "CHALLENGE" ALWAYS WRONG

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Somebody always wins on "The $64,000 Challenge" (CBS-TV). The only consistent loser is Ralph Story, host and referee of the Sunday night program (10 p.m., EST).

"I must lose," Story said the other day. "The Challenge" is a personal conflict between two contestants. The viewing audience picks its sides — its her and villain. I do my best to be neutral. But no matter what I do, that part of the audience which was plugging for the person who lost feels that "We wuz robbed"—and some of them blame me."

Far from feeling persecuted by this state of affairs, Story knows that identification and conflict are necessary to a good ball game or television quiz show.

Letters Pour In

"We wuz robbed," said Tony Galento when his team of seven boxers lost to pretty Dr. Joyce Brothers. But viewers, looking at seven fighters vs. one small blonde, deluged Story with complaints that he was favoring the boxers. "You're a bum, like the rest of those plug-uglies."

They refused to recognize that it took seven times as long to acquaint the audience with seven men as with one woman.

When Tommy Loughran missed the $64,000 question and Dr. Brothers won, the letters suddenly stopped. Then a new deluge began: "Those guys know more about boxing than that dame ever will. . . . Wise up and stop being a lady-killer."

He Can't Win

The complaints became even more vitriolic when Mrs. Alice Morgan, the aging champion of the stock market category, was challenged by 14-year-old Lenny and the following year organized the Children's Bureau of the Welfare Dept.

The Women's Medical Assn. of America named her "Woman of the Year" in 1954 and the Friendship Council of Women's Clubs in Trenton conferred a similar honor on her the same year.

Burial will be in New London, Conn.

James Eby Kroh, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth K. Kroh, Littlestown R. 2, received the "God and Country" award in Boy Scouting at a special presentation during the Sunday morning worship service in Redeemer's United Church of Christ. In observance of National Boy Scout Week, approximately 75 Cubs, Boy Scouts and Explorers, along with 12 den mothers, Scoutmaster Edgar A. Wolfe, Post Advisor David S. Kammerer Jr. and their assistants, all in uniform, from the Littlestown area, were in attendance for the award ceremony.

Prior to the presentation, the Boy Scout Promise was repeated by the Scouts and Explorers, led by Scoutmaster Wolfe, who then gave a summary of the "God and Country" award requirements, noting that it takes about one year of work on a Scout's part to earn the award. The award given Sunday was the first of this kind ever made in the history of Scouting in the Littlestown area. The candidate was presented by Scoutmaster Wolfe, after which the award and pin were presented to Scout Kroh by his pastor, the Rev. Glenn Flinchbaugh. A miniature replica was then pinned on Mrs. Kroh by her son. Scout Kroh entered Scouting as a Cub at the age of eight.

Redeemer's Church was filled to capacity for the service, when Youth Sunday was also observed. Pastor Flinchbaugh delivered a sermon on the subject "A Creed Worth Following," based on the Scout Creed. The Holy Scriptures from Philippians 4:4-9 and Matthew 6:24-34 were read by Grizelda Hahn. Wayne Miller offered the morning prayer.

The Singing Juniors sang the anthem, "Lead Us, Heavenly Father," John Holler, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Jay R. Crouse, who presided at the console through the worship.

Reception Wednesday

Serving as ushers for the service were Donna Koonz, Sandy Hawk, Judy Flinchbaugh and Bernard Weaver. The altar flowers were placed by Mrs. Edna Conover in memory of her husband, George M. Conover. The bulletins were given in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Spangler by the family. During the worship, a nursery for pre-school children was conducted in charge of Mrs. Robert W. Hall and Mrs. Richard A. Little Jr. Anyone desiring to assist with the weekly nursery is asked to contact Miss Bernice J. Currens or Mrs. Richard E. Miller.

Redeemer's Ladies' Aid Society will gather on Tuesday for a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the church social hall. This is one hour earlier than usual, since a supper, including fried oysters, will be served. The February business session will follow.

The Rev. and Mrs. Flinchbaugh and daughters will be honored at a reception on Wednesday at the church, 7:30 p.m. An invitation is extended to members and friends to gather first in the church auditorium and then recess to the social hall, where introductions will be followed with a brief program and refreshments.

Baptism Held

The Singing Juniors of Redeemer's will rehearse at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, to be followed with a Valentine social. Senior Choir rehearsal will take place at 7:30 p.m., that evening.

The Lenten season begins on February 19 and mid-week services will be held each Wednesday in Redeemer's at 7:30 p.m. throughout the six-week period. Messages will be brought by the Rev. Mr. Flinchbaugh.

Virginia Gay Hankey, infant daughter of John W. Sr. and Betty (Hann) Hankey, Littlestown R. 2, was baptized at 4 p.m. on Sunday in Redeemer's Church by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Flinchbaugh. The parents were the baptismal sponsors. The child was born in September, 1957 at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

Ross, "I noticed you shook hands with Lenny Ross but you only greeted dear Mrs. Morgan with stiff formality. If you want the kid to win, why don't you admit it?"

So the next week Story shook hands with both. Then the letters read: "Shaking hands with a youngster is fine, but you should treat Mrs. Morgan with the respect due her age." The next week Story omitted shaking hands with either. The result? "You treat that darling little boy as if HE were 77 years old. You obviously don't understand children."

BLIZZARDS HIT MANY SECTIONS; 15-FOOT DRIFTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blizzards hammered sections of the Northeast today, paralyzing industry and business in many areas, as the season's coldest weather maintained an icy hold across the Eastern two thirds of the country.

Update New York appeared the hardest hit by the blizzards. Blowing and drifting snow—with drifts 15 feet piled up on some highways—blocked hundreds of roads and marooned countless hundreds of motorists and farmers.

Schools in many places were ordered closed. Many industries also were shut down.

Syracuse, a city of 220,000, reeled from the storm, the worst since 1925. Snowfall yesterday measured more than a foot, bringing to 34 inches the amount of snow on the ground. Emergency measures were declared in the city and also in Utica.

The stormy weather was blamed for at least 13 lives in New York state, mostly in traffic accidents. Violent weather in other parts

Faces Sentence For 2nd Degree Murder

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP)—A 38-year-old Sunbury man faced sentencing for second degree murder here today.

The man, Bruce R. Fortner, was convicted by a jury of eight men and four women Saturday in the shooting last Sept. 1 of Mrs. Fern D. Buchan, 42, of Carlisle. The state had asked for a first degree conviction but no death penalty.

Fortner goes before President Judge Robert M. Fortney of Northumberland County Court for sentence. He could get up to 20 years.

of the country was blamed for 15 additional deaths, making a total of 28. Deaths resulted from traffic accidents on snow-covered or icy highways and from heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Stormy weather also pounded the New England area, where eight deaths were reported.

Snow, freezing rain or drizzle mixed with sleet created hazardous driving conditions in northern Texas, Oklahoma and southwest Kansas. Oklahoma reported seven deaths in traffic accidents on icy roads.

13 SENATORS JOIN ON BILL ON INTEGRATION

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirteen senators joined today in proposing a bill designed to encourage racial integration of schools, but to compel compliance with Supreme Court rulings in that field if necessary.

The new civil rights measure also would arm the attorney general with authority to seek federal court injunctions for the protection of civil rights generally a proposal defeated last year after a bitter battle.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) announced he was introducing the bill with twelve other senators, seven Democrats and five Republicans, as cosponsors. He said a companion measure was being introduced in the House.

The legislation would authorize appropriation of 12½ million dollars over the next five years for federal assistance to states and local government units in developing community understanding and plans for school integration.

In addition, federal grants of 40 million dollars a year for each of the next five years would be authorized for school buildings, the employment of additional teachers and other costs incident to eliminating racial segregation.

Douglas noted that under this section funds could be made available to "local communities that wish to comply with the court's decisions, but where, as in Georgia and Virginia, the state threatens to cut off funds or close the schools."

Should efforts to achieve voluntary compliance fail, the secretary of health, education and welfare would be empowered by the legislation to draw up school integration plans in line with the Supreme Court's ruling.

If the secretary were unable to secure their acceptance from state or local officials, the attorney general would be authorized to seek federal court injunctions to force compliance.

The rest of the bill, under which the attorney general could obtain injunctions against violations of civil rights generally, would survive in somewhat altered form a section stricken by the Senate last year from the administration's civil rights measure.

The Civil Rights Act passed by Congress at the last session, the first to be enacted since the end of Reconstruction era, limited the use of this injunctive process to the protecting of voting rights.

Atty. Gen. Rogers said that if Congress were to pass this year the provisions it knocked from the bill last year, he would recommend that President Eisenhower sign the new measure.

He added in a television interview that the administration will not request such action. Rogers had said earlier that he would recommend no new administration proposals on civil rights this year. He and other officials have suggested that a "cooling off" period was in order.

BIGNESS IN U. S. BUSINESS IS UP FOR DISCUSSION

NEW YORK (U-P)-The question of bigness in business and what if anything to do about it is up again today on several fronts.

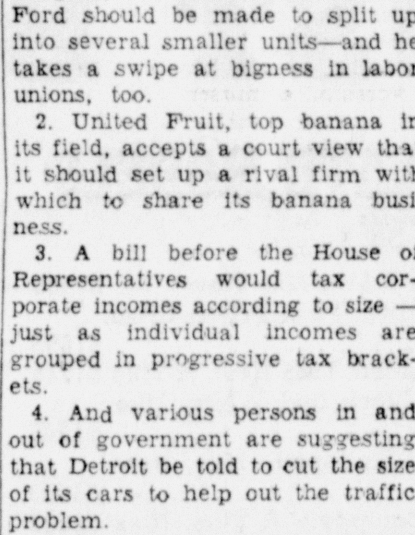

1. A small maker of autos tells Congress that General Motors and Ford should be made to split up into several smaller units-and he takes a swipe at bigness in labor unions, too.

2. United Fruit, top banana in its field, accepts a court view that it should set up a rival firm with which to share its banana business.

3. A bill before the House of Representatives would tax corporate incomes according to size - just as individual incomes are grouped in progressive tax brackets.

4. And various persons in and out of government are suggesting that Detroit be told to cut the size of its cars to help out the traffic problem.

After The Storm

Michaela O'Brien, 2 1/2, peers out of igloo built near her home in Chinchilla, Pa. Snow storm, which blanketed northeastern Pennsylvania area, left upwards of 12 inches of snow. (AP Wirephoto)

Attacks on big business in general and bigness as such usually are stepped up during business slumps.

May Be Expected
Small firms who may be having a hard time keeping afloat note that the giants in their industry can ride out the storm in comparative ease - especially if they are in several other fields, one or more of which may be doing all right.

George Romney, American Motors president, says his smaller company is doing very well this year, but he thinks the Big Three in the industry should be made to spin off some of their divisions for the good of the industry and the nation. GM, Ford, Chrysler and Walter Reuther aren't likely to be in accord with Romney's views on the dangers of bigness in automanagement and labor.

Cities 1911 Splitup
But Romney cites the enforced splitup in 1911 of the old Standard Oil trust as benefiting all concerned. Romney told a Senate group: "Standard Oil stockholders, executives, employees and customers benefited greatly from the creation of 34 companies out of what was previously a single enterprise. General Motors and Ford stockholders, executives, employees and customers could reasonably be expected to benefit as did those of Standard Oil."

Romney sees monopoly or competition as a major economic and political issue. Many congressional spokesmen for small business have echoed this.

Big business has been quick to deny that its growth harms the nation. It contends that the nation has grown even faster and that increasing needs of consumers have led business to expand to fill them at as low production costs as possible.

Plan Draws Fire
The tax proposal in Congress to discourage business growing over large by setting up a progressive income tax on corporations and thus favoring small business draws fire from the Tax Foundation, a private research organization. The top corporate tax now is 52 per cent. The proposal goes as high as 75 per cent on profits over one billion dollars, as GM once had.

The foundation argues that only 15 per cent of businesses are incorporated and the problems of small business aren't primarily due to high taxes. Change in the corporate income tax brackets would give them little relief.

Debate Will Go On
The foundation also contends that "the mass-produced products of larger corporations account for a relatively great proportion of the expenditures of lower and middle income families." Steeper corporate taxes might mean higher prices on goods and therefore fall more heavily on these income groups than present federal excise taxes.

To this most businessmen would add that if Congress wants to help everyone get out of the business slump the thing to do is not to raise taxes but the lower them.

But the debate as to whether the big boys should be whittled down-by a graduated tax or by congressional or court decree - will go on.

Say Army, AF Can Shoot As Far As Moon Later This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military missiles experts say the Army and the Air Force could shoot rockets as far as the moon this year.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., said the Army could put a satellite in orbit around the moon within months, if it got permission to try. Medaris also said on a television interview that the Army could send a manned expedition to the moon in 15 years.

Defense Department officials said the Air Force's 1,500-mile-a-range Thor missile could be augmented by additional rocket stages to send a payload to the moon this year. So far, the department has given no orders for such a try.

Required Payload
The payload in a moon rocket would include radio transmitters for sending back information on the flight and a spotter charge to mark the rocket's impact on the moon, the experts said.

The Air Force's moon rocket capabilities were discussed in a Pentagon briefing which covered various advances in American missile and antissile missile research and development.

The Army used its Jupiter-C rocket in modified form to launch America's first earth satellite, the Explorer, Jan. 31. The Explorer still is speeding around the earth.

Waiting For Money

Medaris said he expects another satellite try sometime between now and April 1. This second satellite would be the same size — around 30 pounds — but with more advanced instruments.

Explorer May Be Help On Map Making

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The satellite Explorer is giving map experts a big hand in correcting errors of distance on the earth surface.

Over vast areas such as the Pacific there now may be a large variation between the actual distance of two points and that shown on the most accurate maps.

A department of the Army released discussed the use to which the satellite is being put. Map experts will improve their calculations by using the Explorer as a reference point instead of the moon. The satellite was launched Jan. 31 from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

WORKED FOR LOOT

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Burglars who tore open a safe at a Tampa business firm during the weekend must have been mighty keen on their work.

They ignored the combination written on the door of the safe. Police said they got $225.

JEAN SEBERG IS WELL-ADJUSTED

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's good that Jean Seberg is a well-adjusted Iowa girl. Otherwise, she might easily flip her lid.

Few 19 year olds have had to endure the trial by fire that Jean has. She started with one inquisition—as Joan of Arc in the ill-fated "St. Joan." And she has been subjected to many others, including Mike Wallace's soul searching on TV.

Amazingly, she has come out of it unscarred and unscathed. The pretty gal still has all her Midwest spunk.

Reviews Were Bad
"You hear the same questions from interviewers everywhere," said Jean, who is on the last legs of a tour to promote her second film, "Bonjour Tristesse." "The usual one is 'How did you feel when you read the reviews of 'St. Joan'?"

"How would they expect me to feel? Like jumping up and down on Hollywood boulevard on a pogo stick?"

The reviews were bad. Those on

"Bonjour Tristesse" have been mixed, she said. They ranged from a rave in a news magazine to a rant in a New York daily. The distinguished critic for the latter closed his review by suggesting that producer Otto Preminger should send his little protégée "back to the Iowa high school where he found her."

"That Was Nasty"

"That was nasty," declared Jean, a Marshalltown High School graduate, by the way. "It wouldn't have been quite so bad if he had said 'Mr. Preminger should send Miss Seberg to dramatic school.'"

But she added that the review brought new friends to her defense. The Mike Wallace interview also won her many supporters. People seem impressed with how she stands right up to her detractors.

What does the future hold for Jean?

"I don't know," she said. "I would like to do a play. Being under contract, I don't have much to say about my future."

She returns to New York to continue dictation lessons and study dramatics in her own way — watching plays and old movies.
